Minister of Health invites members of the media to engage on the the Public Health Strengthening (a.k.a Genesis) report

The Genesis report outlining the details and outcomes of the National Health Insurance pilot campaign is currently under intense scrutiny, which the Department of Health encourages as a national imperative of studying and devising a health care strategy that will meet the sustainable development goal of Universal Health Care for all citizens.

The Minister of Health, Dr Zweli Mkhize, will host a breakfast media briefing to engage the press on this pertinent issue. Aspects of the project, research methodology and outcomes can be jointly interrogated such that we emerge with a common national interest for the strengthening of health care.

The Minister looks forward to constructive dialogue with all of you.
